Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Sunday 31 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Rain and snow south and west. Wintry showers in north.

This Evening and Tonight:
Snow showers in far north, elsewhere clear spells and a sharp frost for northern areas. Cloudier in west and south with patchy rain and a little sleet or snow for some. Winds easing in south but becoming breezier in north.

Monday:
Outbreaks of rain in west, heavy for some with snow for parts of northern England and southern Scotland later. Drier east, snow showers in far north.

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Often unsettled with heavy rain, strong winds, and some snow for northern Britain. Best of any sunshine in extreme north and northwest. Cold in the north, mild in the south.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.